Assume that research eventually reveals that yohimbine or some other substance has genuine aphrodisiac qualities. What possible benefits might be associated with its use? What possible abuses might arise? Would you consider using an aphrodisiac? If so, under what conditions?

It has traditionally been assumed that men have mo[re] pacity and desire for sexual expression than do women. D[o] you believe this is a valid assumption? Why has this vi[ew] point been so pervasive across most Western cultures?

It has been said that women enjoy hugging and touching more than genital sex, whereas men have little interest in the "preliminaries," preferring to "get down to the [real] thing." Do you believe this statement reflects a genuine [dif]ference between the sexes? Are there sex differences in pa[t]terns of sexual turn-ons and turn-offs? If so, are th[ey] learned or biologically determined?

Women collectively appear to have a greater capacity for orgasm, to experience orgasm from a wider range of stimulation, and to have more problems experiencing orgasm than men. To what factors do you attribute this greater variation in female orgasmic response patterns?

Which of the atypical sexual behaviors discussed in this chapter do you find the most unacceptable? Why?

Do you think that social and cultural conditioning contributes to the much higher incidence of atypical sexual behavior among men than among women? Explain.

If your 10-year-old son asked you what you think about masturbation, what would you say? If your 10-year-old daughter asked?

What helpful functions, if any, do you think sexual fantasies serve? When do you think a person's fantasies indicate a problem?

Where do your sexual behaviors fall on the Maltz hierarchy? Research indicates that heterosexual men prefer coitus whereas their female partners often prefer foreplay and "afterplay." Why do you think this is so?

When did you first encounter pornographic material? How did it affect you?

What effects, if any, do you think violent and d[egrading] pornography have on intimate relationships betwee[n men] and women? What do you think is the effect of m[ore] fectionate, and explicit erotica?

[W]hat do [y]ou think could, and should, be done about [un]rated material sent to people via e-mail?

[Wha]ts of laws about prostitution make sense to you? [Can] u justify your point of view?
